PASTOR'S CORNER

My Dear Faithful, during the month of May, dedicated to Our Lady, it is a pious custom to pray the Litany of Loretto each day with the Rosary. Fr. Franz Xavier Dornn wrote a book explaining the invocations of this Litany, called The Illustrated Litany of Loretto. I hope the following extract will be instructive and encourage you to find a copy of this work, as it will be a great aid to you in fostering devotion to our Queen and Mother

—Fr. Nicholas McManus

SANCTA MARIA—HOLY MARY

"Blessed be the Lord, who hath so magnified thy name this day that thy praise shall not depart out of the mouth of men."—Judith, 13:24

I. This picture (not shown) represents the name of Mary expressed with olive branches. But why should olive branches be employed? For this reason- because the Sacred Scripture seems to allude to the name of Mary when it says: Olleum effusum nomen tuum- Thy name is as oil poured out; and, in another place: Oliam pulchram vocavit Dominus nomen tuum- The Lord called thy name an olive tree, fair and beautiful. Now, as oil possesses the qualities of healing and strengthening, so the salutary name of Mary heals, invigorates, and strengthens. Again, as oil, mixed with other liquids, floats on top, so, after the name of God, the name of Mary is greater than all other names. Finally, as the olive branch which the dove brought to the ark was the sign of peace, so the wrath of God is assuaged when He is appealed to with confidence under the invocation of Mary.

II. As the name of Mary is nomen salutare- a salutary name, so it is also a nomen terribile- a terrible name. But to whom is it terrible! To the devil, that most implacable enemy of mankind, for, at the sound of this name he flies off as if thunderstricken, as it were, exclaiming: Terribile nomen ejus- Terrible is his name! It is recorded that David selected five stones to fell Goliath. Of what may these five stones be deemed significant? They may most appropriately be understood as signifying the five letters comprising the name MARIA, and by which name, if employed with humility, the infernal Goliath may be put to flight and vanquished.

III. Finally, this name, MARIA, is replete with mysteries. It is composed of A and Mari- from the sea, which conveys the signification that Mary abounds with graces, as the sea abounds with waters. Besides, the several individual letters which compose this holy name significantly proclaim the Virgin's praises. For instance, by the letter M, Mary is, as it were proclaimed as the Mother of Divine Grace; by letter A, as Advocate of sinners; by letter R, as it were, the Refuge of sinners; by letter I, as it were, the Inviolable, the Immaculate, and the Janua, the Gate of Heaven; and by the last letter A, as it were, the Ark of the Covenant and the Abyss of Mercies.

THE PRAYER

O Mary, though, indeed, I am unworthy to pronounce with my unclean lips thy holy and venerable name, nevertheless, confiding in thy mercy I do pronounce it, and I do say, O Mary! Through the invocation of thy holy name, be my protection in every danger of body and soul, and be my defense against the assaults of my enemies, visible and invisible. Ah, my sole desire, my only request, is that the last words I shall ever pronounce may be the names of Jesus and Mary. That this, my yearning desire, may be realized, I supplicate:

HOLY MARY, PRAY FOR US!
